Military Intelligence Readiness Improvement Program

MIRIP Overview

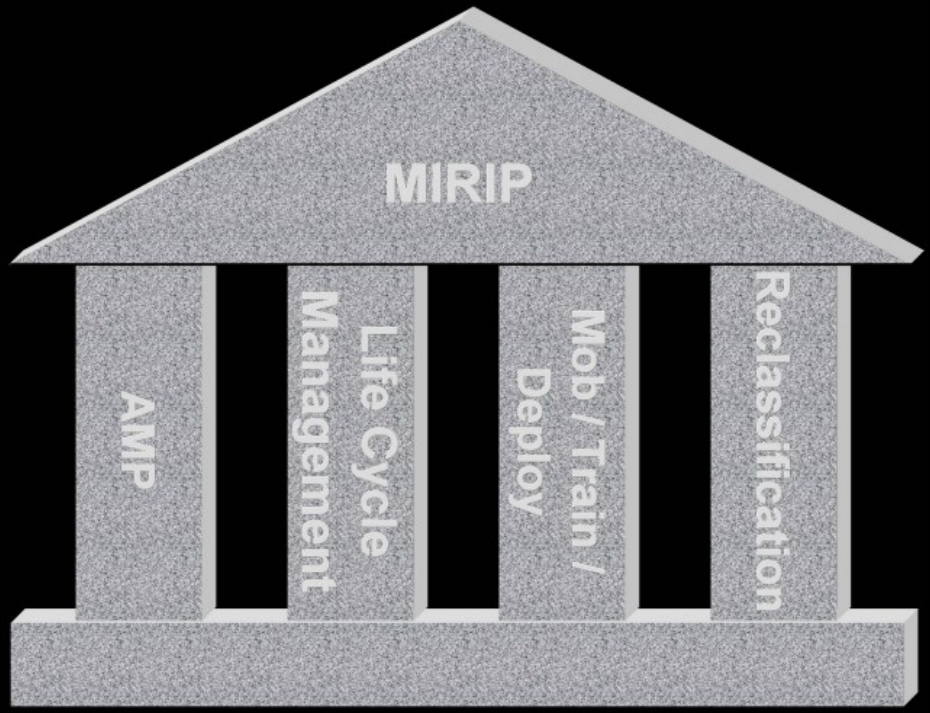
The Army National Guard (ARNG) has been tasked to contribute significant resources in response to the global war on terrorism. As a result the Army Chief of Staff has directed that all Army National Guard units achieve a Duty MOS Qualification (DMOSQ) rate of at least 85%.

Army National Guard has made it a priority to increase the readiness posture of its Military Intelligence force structure. Consequently, the Military Intelligence Readiness Improvement Program (MIRIP) and the Augmentation Management Platform (AMP) were initiated to address the challenge.

Military Intelligence Readiness Improvement Program

MIRIP Overview

The Military Intelligence Readiness Improvement Program Is a tool to help in the acquisition, development, training and retention of an MI or potential MI soldier.



A Resource For Your Continuing Military Intelligence Career

Military Intelligence Readiness Improvement Program

MIRIP Personnel

MIRIP Program Manager — Mr. Tim Mason
COM: 703-607-7863 • DSN: 327-7863
EMAIL: TIMOTHY.MASON@NGB.ARMY.MIL

AMP Project Manager — Mr. Don Nicholas
COM: 703-607-9074 • DSN: 327-9074
EMAIL: DONALD.NICHOLAS@NGB.ARMY.MIL

Area 1 AMP Representative — Mr. Robert Burkett
(Western Region)
CELL: 254-338-0183
ROBERT.B.BURKETT@US.ARMY.MIL

Area 2 AMP Representative — Mr. Steven Prebehalla
(Eastern Region)
CELL: 706-627-8962
STEVE.PREBEHALLA@US.ARMY.MIL

A Resource For Your Continuing Military Intelligence Career

Military Intelligence Readiness Improvement Program

MIRIP Goals

- Increase DMOSQ through:
  - Centralized funding
  - Centralized school seat quota management
  - AMP and attrition management
- MI functional focus for training
  - Advocate for MI training
  - POI development input, ATRRS involvement, school-house coordination, personnel policies, prerequisites
  - Language deferment
- Perform as the training liaison to the MI Tiger Team
- Retrain / Restructure the MI force

A Resource For Your Continuing Military Intelligence Career

Military Intelligence Readiness Improvement Program

AMP Overview

AMP is a component of MIRIP that enables the assignment of MI MOSQ soldiers to ARNG MI vacancies without geographical constraints. This is accomplished by providing funding to the state to pay for the soldier's travel, pay and lodging to their assigned MI unit once per quarter.

Military Intelligence Readiness Improvement Program

MI Training Costs

Avg Cost To Train an MI Soldier
$107K

Avg Travel Cost Under AMP
+/- $6K Annually

Avg Cost Avoidance
$101K

Current AMP Participants
54

Avg Travel Cost Under AMP
+/- $324K Annually

Avg Cost Avoidance
Over $5.4M

A Resource For Your Continuing Military Intelligence Career

Military Intelligence Readiness Improvement Program

Process Without AMP

Total Separation

REUP

ACCC

RCCC

ARNG

IRR

USAR

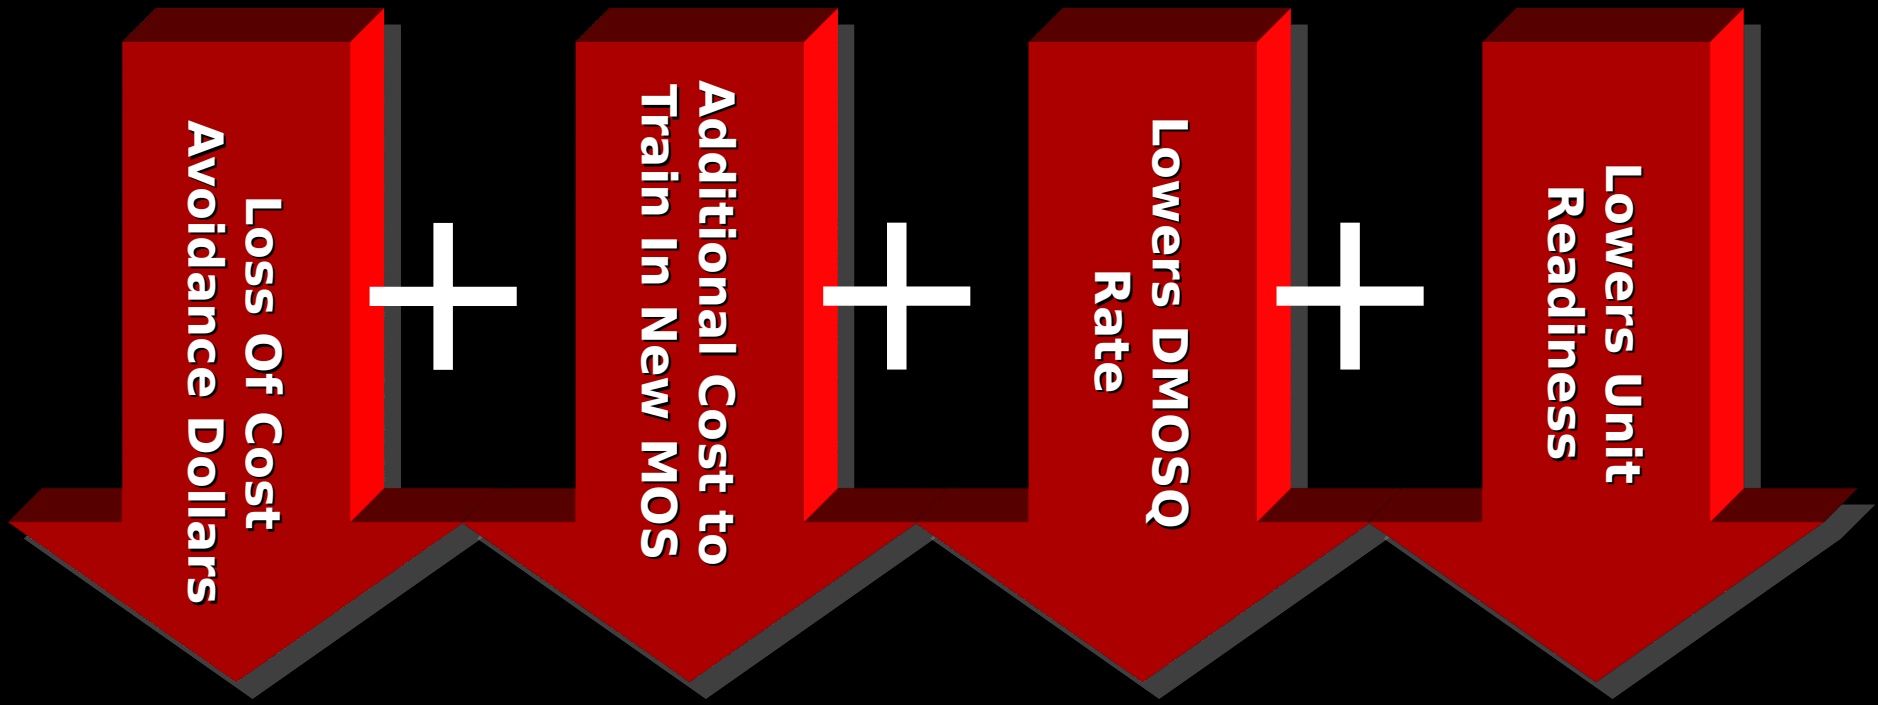
MI UNIT

NON MI POSITION/ UNIT

A Resource For Your Continuing Military Intelligence Career

Military Intelligence Readiness Improvement Program

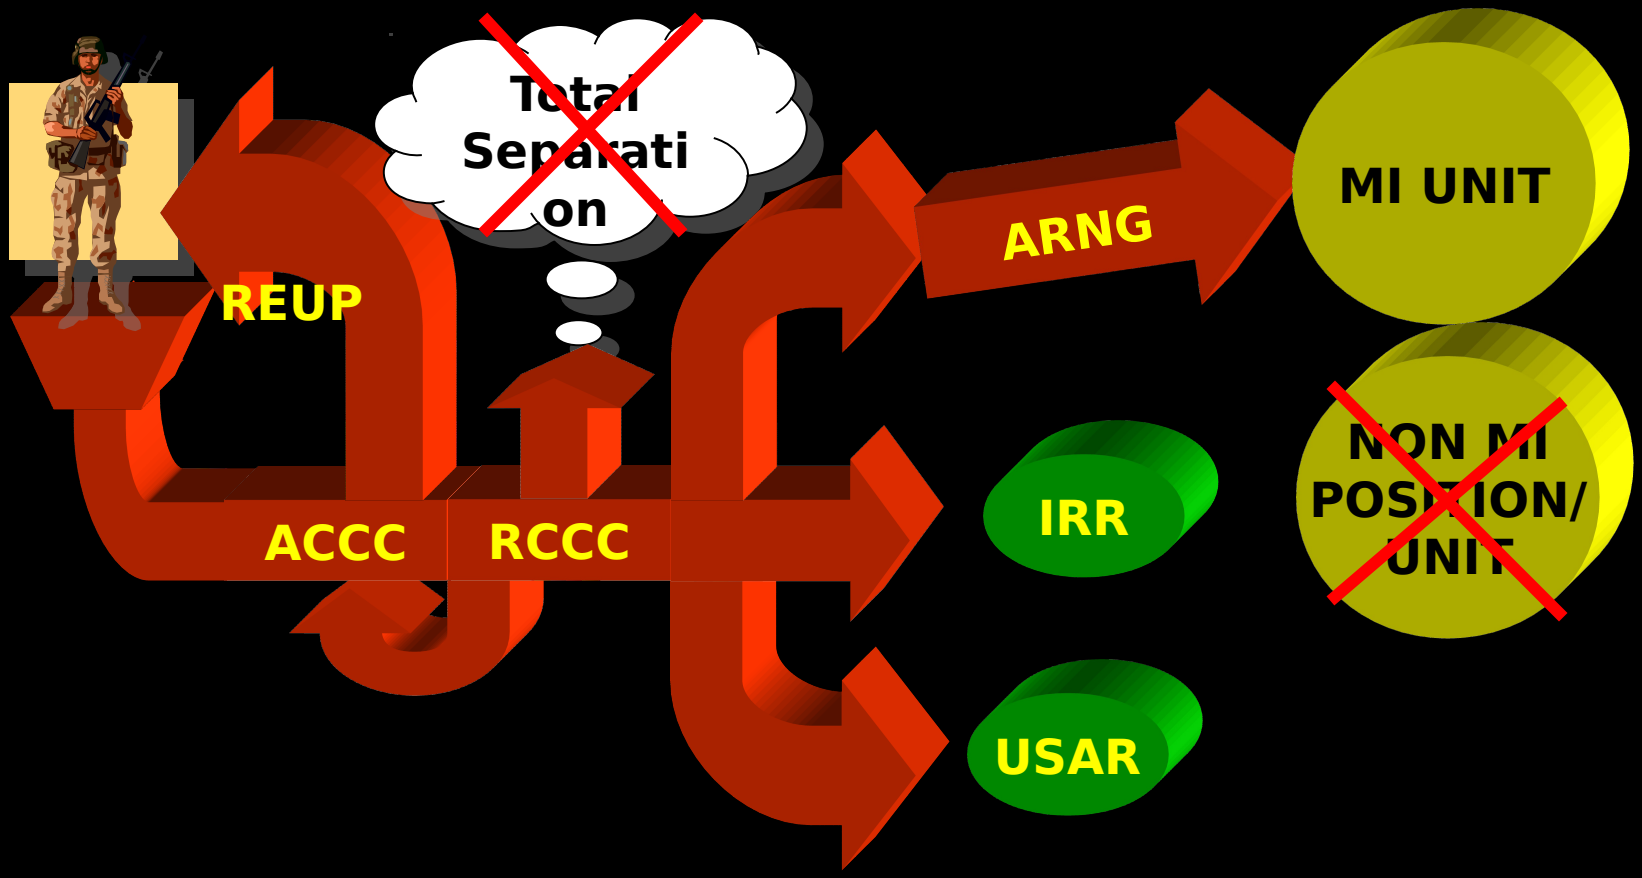
Results Without AMP



A Resource For Your Continuing Military Intelligence Career

Military Intelligence Readiness Improvement Program

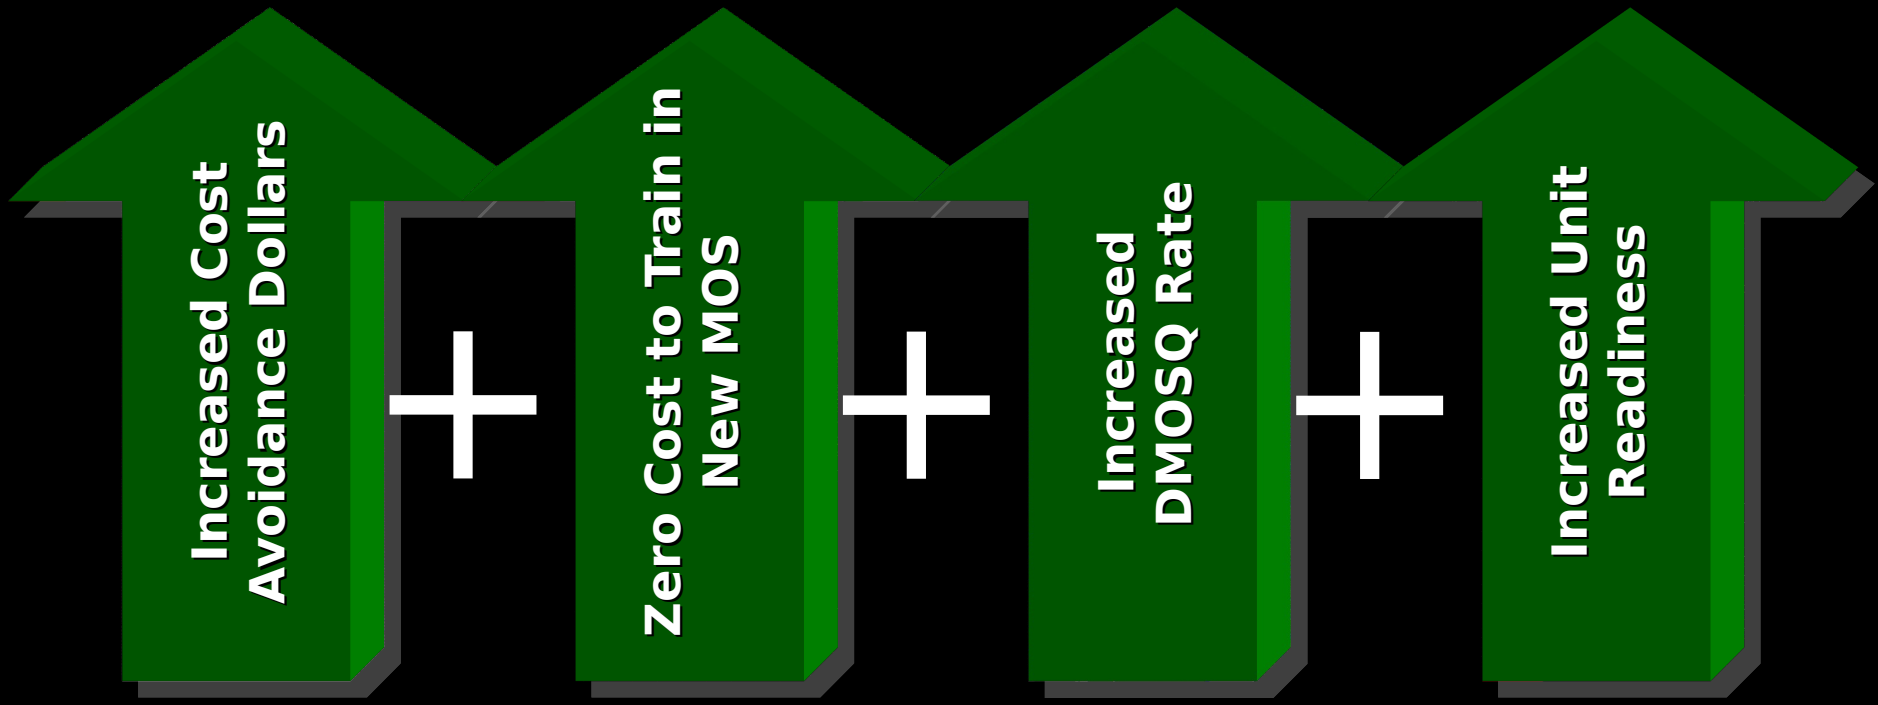
AMP Goal



A Resource For Your Continuing Military Intelligence Career

Military Intelligence Readiness Improvement Program

Results With AMP



A Resource For Your Continuing Military Intelligence Career

Military Intelligence Readiness Improvement Program

Priorities

- Assign non ARNG MI MOSQ soldiers to MI vacancies within the ARNG within a reasonable commute
- Assign non ARNG MI MOSQ soldiers to MI vacancies within the ARNG under the provisions of AMP
- Assign ARNG MI MOSQ soldiers currently not assigned to an MI position to an ARNG MI vacancy
- Retain ARNG MI MOSQ soldiers currently assigned to ARNG MI positions who move their residence beyond 150 miles from an ARNG MI unit with a valid vacancy for their MOS

A Resource For Your Continuing Military Intelligence Career

Military Intelligence Readiness Improvement Program

Qualifications

- AMP is interested in current of former soldiers who possess one of the following MI MOSs:
  - Enlisted: 33W, 96B, 96D, 96H, *96R, 96U, 97B, 97E, *97L, 98C, 98G, 98H, *98J, *98K, 98P & 98Y
  - Officer: 35B, 35C, 35D, 35E and 35G
  - Warrant Officer: 350B, 350D, 350U, 351B, 351E, 352C, 352G, 352J and 353A

Note: MOSs with an "*" may be required to retrain/reclassify into another MI MOS. Determination will be made on a case by case basis.

A Resource For Your Continuing Military Intelligence Career

Military Intelligence Readiness Improvement Program

Qualifications

- A soldier may qualify for AMP if they possess one of the stated MOSs and fulfill the following criteria:
  - They are pending ETS from active duty, or
  - They are currently a member of the IRR, or
  - They are or become geographically separated from their ARNG MI unit, or
  - They currently belong to an ARNG unit which is not an MI unit, and
  - They possess a current security clearance or have no impediments to having their clearance reissued if expired, and
  - Have no other limitations that would preclude them from being qualified in their MI MOS, and
  - They currently reside or will reside more than 150 miles from an ARNG MI unit with a valid position for their MI MOS

A Resource For Your Continuing Military Intelligence Career

Military Intelligence Readiness Improvement Program

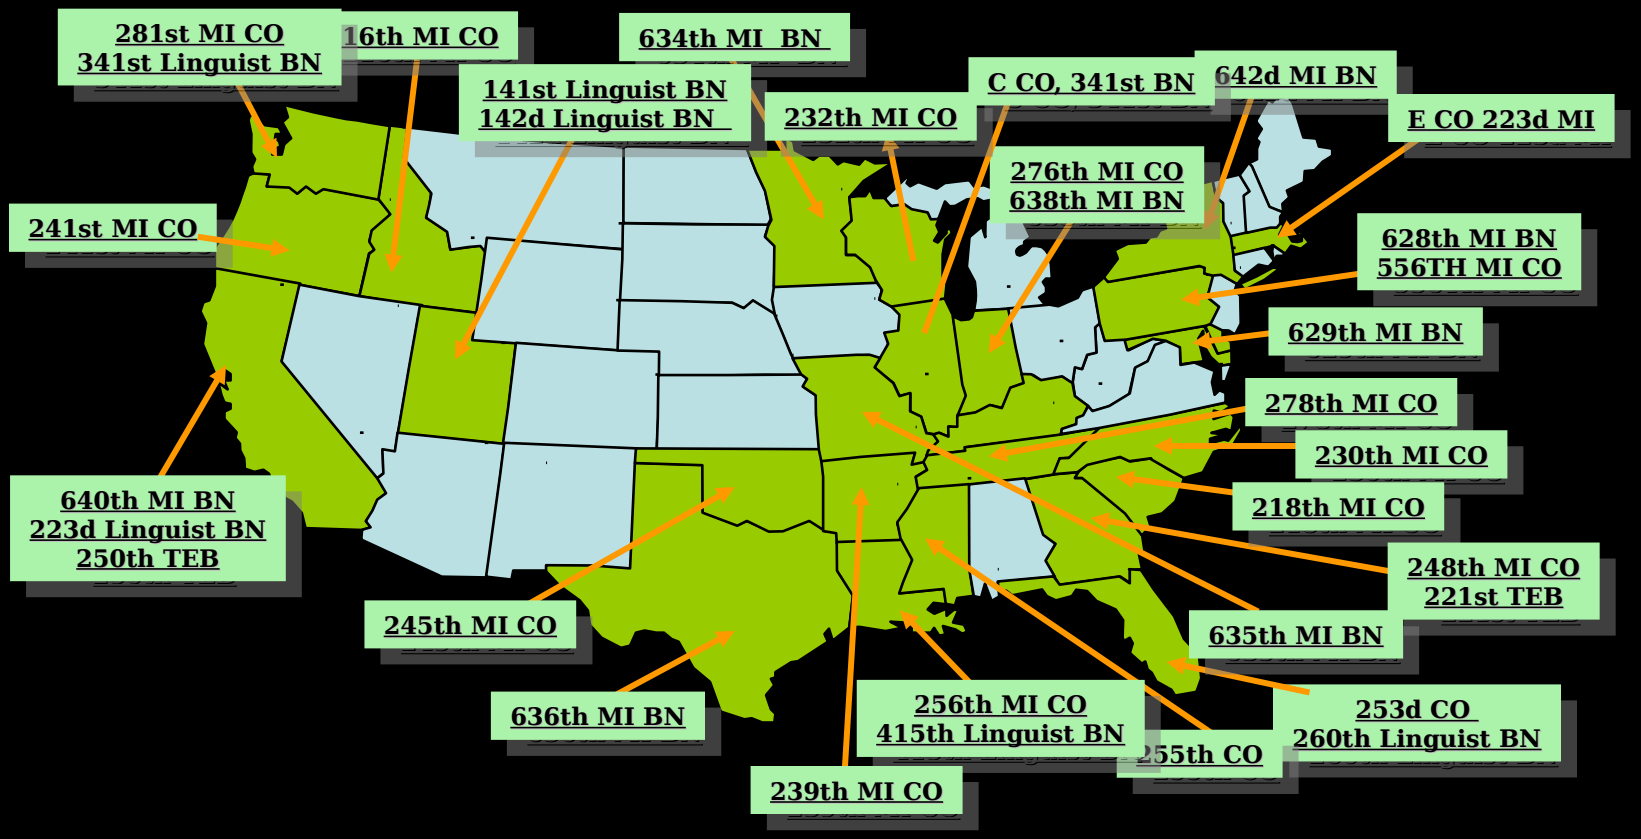
How Does AMP Work?

- The soldier is assigned to the MI unit
  - AMP provides funding for all travel, pay and lodging to allow AMP participants to attend drill at their assigned MI unit once per quarter
  - Drill will be conducted in an ADT status
- Participants will drill in an with a unit that's local to their residence in IDT status when not attending drill at their assigned unit
  - The conditions for which the soldier drills with the local unit will be established between the two commanders through an MOU
  - The soldier is assigned to the MI unit not the local unit
- AMP maintains no C2 function over the soldier

A Resource For Your Continuing Military Intelligence Career

Military Intelligence Readiness Improvement Program

ARNG MI Unit Locations



A Resource For Your Continuing Military Intelligence Career

Military Intelligence Readiness Improvement Program

Processing Procedures

- Identify that the soldier possess a designated MI MOS as a PMOS, SMOS or AMOS
- Brief the soldier about MIRIP/AMP
- Locate a valid vacancy within a selected ARNG MI unit through one of the following sources: (Note: The Career Counselor is not responsible for finding the local unit.)
  - Identify the unit through RETAIN
  - Contact the state RCT to obtain a position
  - Contact AMP personnel for assistance in obtaining a position
- Complete the enlistment contract for the identified ARNG MI unit as with any other contract.

A Resource For Your Continuing Military Intelligence Career

Military Intelligence Readiness Improvement Program

Processing Procedures

- Complete the AMP application found on the GOMIRIP website at: WWW.GOMIRIP.COM
- When the enlistment is completed fax a copy of 5691-R (Request for Orders) and AMP application to the MIRIP office at: (360) 323-5861
- Make all other distributions of the contract as required
- Note: There is no requirement to contact AMP for application approval prior to contracting the soldier as long as the soldier meets the qualifications

Military Intelligence Readiness Improvement Program

Main Contact Information

Toll Free: 1-888-688-9853

DSN: 327-9554

COM: (703) 607-9554

FAX: (360) 323-5861

EMAIL: GOMIRIP@NGB.ARMY.MIL

WEB SITES: WWW.GOMIRIP.COM

WWW.NGB.ARMY.MIL/GOMIRIP

A Resource For Your Continuing Military Intelligence Career